Spay or Neuter - Fact vs. Myth

- It will change the pet’s behavior. Fact is, fixing your pet makes him or her a more affectionate companion. Dogs are still protective, male cats will stop spraying and female cats will be less likely to roam.
- It will make the pet fat or lazy. Fact is, fixing your pet doesn’t affect his or her weight or activity level.
- It’s better for a female pet to have one litter first. Fact is, spaying a female pet before she has her first heat reduces health problems and reduces the cost for the spay procedure.
- It will make a male dog or cat feel less like a male. Fact is, research has shown that pets have no concept of sexual identity or ego.
- It’s unnatural to prevent a pet from breeding. Fact is, domesticating dogs and cats is already an “unnatural” process.
- It will make the dog less protective. Fact is, spaying or neutering a dog doesn’t affect its natural instincts to protect, nor does it change its personality.
- It’s too expensive. Fact is, fixing your pet saves money over time and The Humane Society offers SNAP – Spay/Neuter Assistance Program: Financial assistance for low income families and elderly pet owners to help make it more affordable to alter pets.
